U.S., Russia 'Still Far Apart' After Kennedy-Gromyko Talks

JFK: Giving Apple for Orchard Mikoyan: Free City Guaranteed

WASHINGTON. — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said yesterday the mood of U.S.-Soviet talks on the Berlin crisis was "serious and constructive" but the outcome is yet to be determined.

"As to the outcome, we'll have to wait and see," he said in recording a television programme for later broadcast.

President Kennedy and Mr. Rusk met late on Friday for two hours with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in the fourth of a series of conversations which Mr. Rusk began with Mr. Gromyko in New York last month.

Political sources reported afterwards that the two sides were about as far apart as ever on the problem of developing a basis for negotiations on a peaceful settlement of the dispute.

In the TV programme, Mr. Rusk was asked by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, with whom he made the recordings, whether he was resolving the crisis. He said that "if the crisis is almost certain to be brought before the U.N. for full discussion," and in such a case the U.N. might play a decisive role.

In their talks, the President was reported to have told Mr. Gromyko to make it clear to the Soviet Union that the U.S. and its allies would not abandon their position in West Berlin and the access routes to it. Mr. Kennedy emphasized the Western determination to fight if necessary to stay in the encircled city.

Determined to Sign

Mr. Gromyko, for his part, stressed again Mr. Khrushchev's determination to sign a peace treaty with the U.S. which would guarantee access to Berlin.

According to informed sources, at one point in their talks, Mr. Kennedy told Mr. Gromyko that he had offered to sign an apple for an orchard in this country.

Mr. Gromyko repeated the Soviet position that a peace treaty with Germany was a necessary condition for a peace treaty with the U.S. He also repeated the Soviet position that a peace treaty with the U.S. was a necessary condition for a peace treaty with Germany.

Interesting, Useful

He described the conversation as both interesting and useful, and stated there is no timetable for future meetings between himself and Mr. Kennedy.

Mr. Rusk described the conference as "like a continuing conversation" which he personally had with Mr. Gromyko. He said that the Soviet Foreign Minister was in New York to explore prospects for top level East-West negotiations.

He added he did not expect to confer with Mr. Gromyko again before the latter's scheduled departure for Moscow on Tuesday. (AP, UPI)

Agreement Seen on Mapai Majority Issue

POST Political Reporter

Finance Minister Levi Eshkol on Friday decided to postpone for a week his decision on returning the Mapai mandate to the Provisional Government of the Four-Party Bloc towards Interior Minister H.M. Shapira's proposal for a "conditional" Mapai cabinet majority.

The change became apparent at Friday's three-hour session of the "Four" with Mapai, at the close of which it was decided to convene the five-party body again tomorrow (Monday).

Representatives of the Labor, Mapai, and Agudat Ha'Avoda said at the meeting that they were prepared to consider the N.R.P. compromise proposal.

At the beginning of the meeting Mr. Eshkol had flatly rejected the formal demand of the other four parties for a parity status for Mapai in the cabinet, as presented by Mr. I. Bar Yehuda of Agudat Ha'Avoda.

While he agreed that the N.R.P. compromise might offer a "bridgehead" to Eshkol, he stressed that he would accept it only if the cabinet could be guaranteed.

He said he would submit a formula of his own on this issue at tomorrow's meeting of the "Five".

Both the Labor and the Mapai said after Friday's session that they were anxious to make every effort to bring about the formation of a new government.

Some Labor members moved at the flat refusal of the N.R.P. to consider a coalition with the "Four" after the session.

He repeated offers made in his speech on Friday night to help Eshkol and his government with raw materials and food supplies, and said, "You can always count on us for support and help."

This was the first indication of Russian food supplies to East Germany, which had experienced great difficulty in organizing agricultural affairs since the country's farms were fully collectivized a year ago.

Bruno Leuschner, East German Deputy Premier, told the rally that the "struggle" for a peace treaty was heading towards a climax. (AP, Reuters)

3 Communist States Recognize Syrian Gov't

League to Discuss EMBASSIES TO BE SET UP

Damascus Radio announced yesterday Russian, Czechoslovakian and Bulgarian recognition of Syria's new regime. The radio said the Soviet Union had notified the Government of Premier al-Kuzbari that it had decided to establish diplomatic relations on an Embassy level and expressed hope for "relationships... based on the principle of peaceful coexistence and in the interests of the peoples of the two countries and of world peace."

The wording of Bulgaria's notification was identical. There was no comment on the radio about the announcements.

The news of Moscow's recognition was later confirmed by a broadcast on the Russian home service.

Damascus Radio made the announcement as follows: "The USSR has studied the Syrian Arab Republic's request dated September 30 and has decided to recognize the Syrian Arab Republic and to establish diplomatic relations at Embassy level."

For World Peace

The radio quoted the announcement as saying the Soviet Union hoped relations between the two countries would be based on "the principles of coexistence for their mutual interests and strengthening of world peace."

These were the first Communist countries to recognize Syria following the revolt. The recognition previously went to Jordan, Turkey, Persia, Nationalist China and Guatemala.

The U.S. and Britain have delayed their decision. It is recalled that Kuzbari charged that Nasser had suppressed Syrian freedom and drained the economy. He said Nasser had abandoned his diplomatic blockade of Syria because he knew it would boomerang.

Amman Radio yesterday quoted a Syrian National Economy Ministry source as stating that some 1,500 tons of goods had been smuggled out of the country during the period of the Syrian revolution. The source said the goods were being sold in the Egyptian market.

U Thant Assured Of Top UN Post

By JESSE ZEL LAURIE, Jerusalem Post Correspondent

Opposition from the Soviet Union and Israel plus only lukewarm support from his fellow Arabs and other Afro-Western states, have made U Thant's chances of becoming Acting Secretary-General as slim as a Nile reed.

The Tunisian chief sponsor of the U.S. delegation, Slim U Thant of Burma and Elia are equally acceptable. Earlier, the U.S. objected to the Burman because his country has a long frontier with China and might be subjected to undue pressure. But now, one of the three acceptable candidates, the only one of the Soviet Union, the Arab League seems assured. They will not oppose him on the grounds of Burma's friendship with Israel.

Despite a statement issued by the U.S. delegation on Friday again urging the prompt appointment of an interim Secretary-General, observers believe it will take several weeks before the differences over the number and powers of the assistants to the Secretary-General, and the neutral delegates who are acting as intermediaries between the U.S. and Russia, are resolved.

Agreement on a plan to expand the Security Council from five to nine members, chosen from the U.S., Russia, Africa, Latin America and Asia.

The U.S. has demanded, however, that it appoint U Thant as its own deputy, and that he be a person of ability and geographical representation, and that he be chosen at his discretion on political issues.

Brandt Distrusts Soviet Word

NEW YORK (AP). — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt here yesterday said he was sceptical with regard to reports of guarantees by Russia or East Germany that Allied rights would be protected when an East German peace treaty is signed.

"The Russians use words which don't mean just the same thing that we would put into those words," he said in a press conference prior to leaving for home after a two-day visit.

"Everyone has had some experience with guarantees by the Soviet Union. I would be more sure if the guarantees corresponded with the aims of the Soviet Union," he added.

Brandt repeated the view that the "four-power responsibility" established in Berlin by the U.S., Britain, France and the Soviet Union after World War II "cannot be referred to the so-called inner German level," meaning to East and West Germany alone.

But he said that "there is always the possibility that under the roof of four-power responsibility, practical problems could be dealt with by officials in the two areas."

Russia's 18th 'Biggest Yet'

WASHINGTON (AP). — The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced yesterday night that the Soviet Union had exploded a nuclear device in the atmosphere in the vicinity of Novaya Zemlya early this morning.

Friday's blast was the 18th in the Soviet Union's current series, which began September 1, and was the fifth said to be in the "several megaton" range.

French Government detection services, the first to detect the explosion, called it the biggest yet. Japanese experts estimated its strength at 10 megatons.

Freedom Suppressed

Kuzbari reiterated his charges that Nasser had suppressed Syrian freedom and drained the economy. He said Nasser had abandoned his diplomatic blockade of Syria because he knew it would boomerang.

Amman Radio yesterday quoted a Syrian National Economy Ministry source as stating that some 1,500 tons of goods had been smuggled out of the country during the period of the Syrian revolution. The source said the goods were being sold in the Egyptian market.

BEIRUT (AP). — The premises of five pro-Nasser newspapers here were bombed during Friday night. All were damaged but no casualties were caused.

700 SYRIANS HOME FROM EGYPT

BEIRUT (Reuters). — About 700 Syrians returning from Egypt arrived here yesterday aboard the Egyptian ship Misr. Beirut Port sources said, Syrian buses met them to take them home.

Syria Purging School Books of Pharaonism

The Syrian Ministry of Education has revealed that it has ordered the new government's schools to purge their textbooks of Pharaonism and thoroughly revise the Egyptian-dictated syllabus.

Dozens of committees are working night and day to prepare new textbooks. Schools will reopen as soon as these are printed.

The report, quoted by Amman Radio, said the new regime schools could not permit schools to open their doors as long as the only books they had were full of Pharaonism and Egyptian history in general, while paying little attention to Arab and Moslem history.

Greek Orthodox Honour Kennedy

WASHINGTON (Reuters). — President Kennedy's Friday became the first American day to receive the Grand Cross and insignia of the Order of the Holy Sepulchre, from Patriarch Benedictos of Jerusalem, the highest-ranking prelate of the Greek Orthodox Church, ever to visit the U.S. Officials said the President was only the eighth person to be given the high decoration since the fourth century.

The Patriarch invited President Kennedy to visit the holy places in Jerusalem. The President replied: "I pray it will some day be my privilege to visit these holy places."

33 DIE IN GERMAN TRAIN CRASH

HAMBURG (Reuters). — Thirty-three persons have died as a result of a rail disaster here late on Thursday night. Three of the 26 persons in hospital are in a critical condition.

The signalman responsible for the stretch of suburban track where a late-night passenger train ran into the rear of a repair train has also been under medical observation.

The repair train was loaded with girders over 50 feet long, which projected back over the train. Many passengers on the train were impaled on the girders. It took firemen more than six hours to free the last of the bodies from the wreckage with oxy-acetylene equipment.

Two Burned to Death In Road Accident

ACRE. — Two persons were killed and a third seriously injured on Friday when a jeep in which they were travelling overturned following a blow-out near Rami on the Acre-Safat road.

The three were trapped beneath the jeep and drenched with burning petrol.

Haim Rubin, 17, and Haifa, had picked up a hitchhiker, 23, of Holon, Schneider, who was severely burnt, managed to crawl a few yards and was taken by a passing truck to the Government hospital in Safat. Rubin, unable to escape, was burnt to death at the scene of the accident.

Neftiger was stated to be out of danger, though gravely injured, at the Malben hospital in Nahariya.

Peggy Appiah Can Stay in Ghana

ACCRA (Reuters). — A Ghana Government spokesman said yesterday that a deportation order had been issued against Mrs. Peggy Appiah, wife of Mr. Joe Appiah, arrested deputy leader of the opposition.

The spokesman said there was misunderstanding between the Government and Mrs. Appiah. He said to convey to Mrs. Appiah, the Government had wished her to remain in Ghana, or if she wished to return to Britain, the Ghana Government would pay travelling costs for herself, her children and her household effects.

Earlier, Mrs. Appiah said a police official had told her she had to leave the country, but she had no document to prove it.

Quaidoo, a member of the Party who is also in jail, said the Government's most conspicuous critics who will be in Parliament next week, both opposition members, are also in jail. All four will automatically lose their seats if the Speaker's permission for 20 consecutive sittings.

A bill setting up a special court to deal with offences against the State will be one of the most important draft laws coming before the new session of Parliament.

The decision to establish a court was announced a week ago when the Government attempted to overthrow the Government by force of the "Government" was an offence punishable by death.

The proposed court, a specially-constituted bench of three judges, will deal with treason and sedition, and offences against the peace, such as rioting and unlawful assembly. Its decisions will be final.

Soviet Poet Again Blasted For Controversial 'Babiyar'

MOSCOW (UPI). — The poet who started a storm here with a poem attacking Russian anti-Semitism was criticized anew on Friday for deviating from the Communist party line.

The newspaper "Komsomolskaya Pravda," organ of the Soviet Young Communist League (Komsomol), said Yevgeny Yevtushenko's controversial poem "Babiyar" and the poet himself were blasted at a conference of young poets in the League headquarters in Moscow.

It was the latest in a series of attacks against Yevtushenko since the poem was first published in the newspaper "Literary Gazette" last month. Yevtushenko has been accused of allegedly showing concern only for the Jewish victims of Nazi anti-Semitism without due regard for the fact that the Nazis also slaughtered other Russians.

The newspaper said the "poet without thinking mixed together a lot of ideas of different cross sections and raised noise about a question which long ago has been solved."

"Creative Miscalculation"

It added: "There is no doubt that if it approached the subject from the point of view of high principles of (Communist) party literature it should be regarded as a serious creative miscalculation of the poet."

Yevtushenko's poem, named in honour of the Kiev site where the Nazis slaughtered 1,000 Jews, was published on September 19.

But three days previously he had read it to a jam-packed public hall in Moscow where he received an enthusiastic reception from more than 1,000 listeners.

Spectators at the meeting have reported that the poem, as read by Yevtushenko, had several lines that have not appeared in the text published by the "Literary Gazette." They said the lines claimed anti-Semitism existed among many Russians and most often manifested itself when they started to drink.

Despite the attacks there is still no evidence that the controversy has hurt Yevtushenko's popularity, particularly among young Russians.

It was learned here yesterday that Yevtushenko has applied for a visa to visit Britain, a British Embassy official said they had had the application for several days. It was understood that he was invited to Britain by the British Council.

Russia Quits Int'l Atom Agency Talks

VIENNA (UPI). — Russia's chief delegate, Prof. V. S. Emel'yanov, on Friday walked out of the final session of the fifth General Assembly of the International Atomic Energy Agency in protest against the election of Sweden's selection of the Soviet Union as the new Director-General.

A few minutes later Dr. Emel'yanov was sworn into his new post.

Other members of the Soviet delegation remained in their seats for the swearing-in.

The walk-out followed a heated speech of protest by Prof. Emel'yanov attacking the new Director-General and the Western powers, in particular the U.S. He said that Dr. Emel'yanov's acceptance of the post shows that he is willing to be a tool of the Western powers.

The Soviet delegate claimed delegates representing more than half the world's population had voted against Dr. Emel'yanov.

Observers said Prof. Emel'yanov might announce his intention to withdraw from the agency. Prof. Emel'yanov is the Chairman of the Soviet Atomic Energy Commission and is said to be a close friend of Premier Khrushchev.

Dissonance at Munich

MUNICH (AP). — An Egyptian band marred the premiere showing of the film "Exodus" here when it substituted jazz for the scheduled "Exodus" theme music.

The band had been engaged to play the theme music on Thursday night at the opening of the second half of the film. Instead they mounted the stage and broke out with a fast number called "24 Hours."

The audience yelled "Stop!" and "Shame!"

Bavarian State Minister Dr. Alois Hundhammer, representative of the Government, stalked out in anger.
